Dear Sir,

I am from Wales, which is now part of Great Britain, although we are not an independent state, we do have our own language culture and a place in the world. Therefore I feel for the people of Lithuania in their plight for independence, together with the other Baltic states. I read that you state that the West, especially Britain do not support your claim for independence. Mrs Thatcher who, as you know is our Prime Minister, does not have the overall, of the thoughts of the people of the U.K., and I can ensure you and your people that we do care for you and your cry for freedom, that one will come to you and the Lithuanian people. "That there is no doubt."

President Gorbachev of the Russians has to have the clean cut image of the Soviet leader, but he too has his own problems with the people of Georgia, so he has a lot on his mind at the moment.

President Landsbergis we do support your freedom movement here in the West, well at least in Wales we do so please do not lose heart and the courage that you have shown in your claim for freedom.
It's almost there now, so please have faith in your judgement and your people and remember that some do care for the people of Lithuania

God bless
John Pemberton
